

Women wear many hats:

Mother, Mentor, Sister, Manager, Volunteer, Daughter, Nurturer, Mediator, Entrepreneur. But the Hard Hat is not typically top of mind. At Thungela we are committed to diversity, inclusivity, and equity.

Why? Because representation matters.

"You will make it. Greatness is within you, no matter how tough it is. Things take time but you will make it"

- Neo Monareng,
General Manager at Khwezela

Our women, and the progress they're pioneering, deserve to be celebrated.

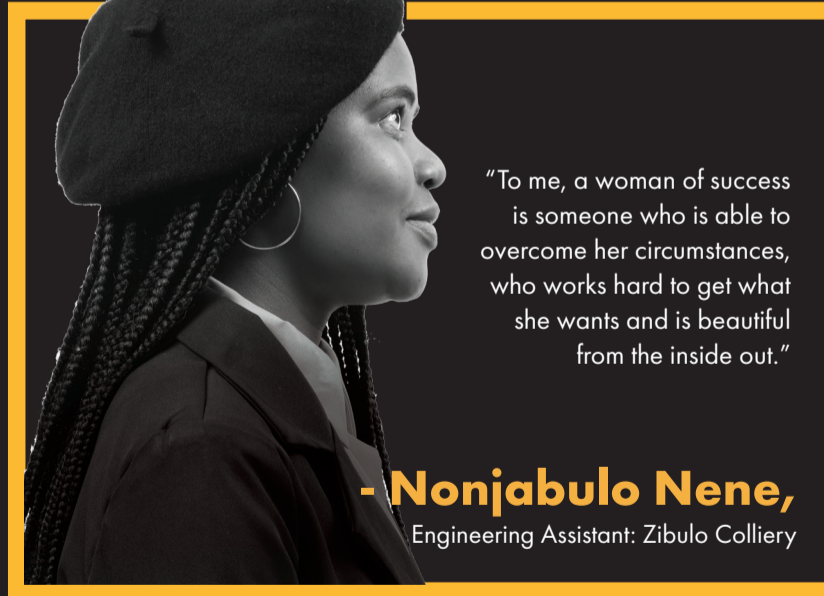

"A women's strength is in the empathy that she has"

- Nkosinomusa Motsoeneng,
Head of Corporate Affairs

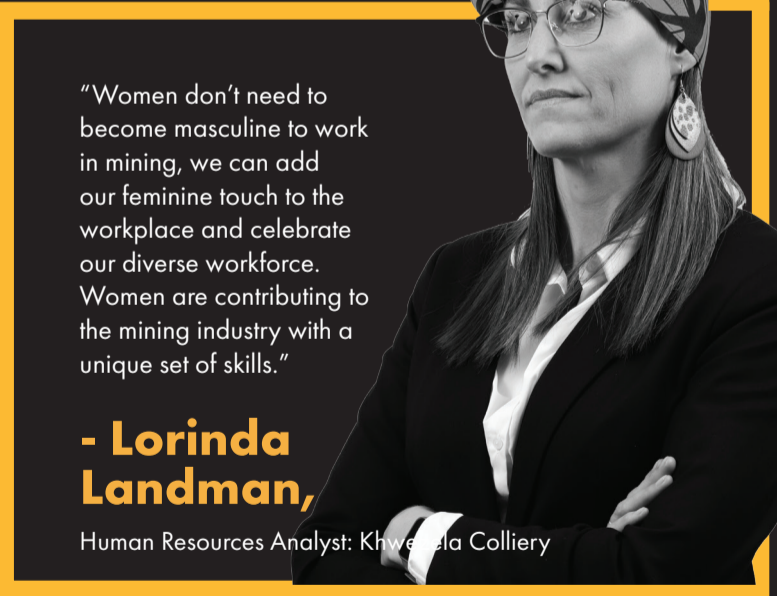

"To win, you must lose your fear to fail. Failure is part of the process: people who don't fail, never try. You've got to get it wrong to get it right."

- Ethel Skosana,
Shift boss:
Greenside Colliery

"To me, a woman of success is someone who is able to overcome her circumstances, who works hard to get what she wants and is beautiful from the inside out."

- Nonjabulo Nene,
Engineering Assistant: Zibulo Colliery

"Women don't need to become masculine to work in mining, we can add our feminine touch to the workplace and celebrate our diverse workforce. Women are contributing to the mining industry with a unique set of skills."

- Lorinda Landman,
Human Resources Analyst: Khwezela Colliery